

Did you know that teen driver car crashes are the leading cause of permanent injury and death in teens across America?

The I Promise Program is a safe driving initiative developed for families with new young drivers. It consists of a parent-youth mutual safe-driving contract, a rear-window decal, and a 1-year vehicle monitoring service.

Launched in January 2002 after 2 years of research and development, the I Promise Program has parents and teens review, discuss and sign a mutual safe driving contract and then affix a rear window decal that displays a toll-free number inviting calls on driver behavior. Any call received results in a letter sent to only the parents so they can address the information privately within their family.

In the first year of operation only one call was received to make a report of "Perfect driving".

Contract Items Include:

- I promise to drive sober.*
- I promise to wear my seat belt.*
- I promise to drive defensively.*
- I promise to keep my mind on the road.*

All families with new young drivers are encouraged to participate. The first year tends to be the most dangerous for new drivers and sets driving habits that carry on life-long.

To view the parent-teen contract and for more information including over 100 letters of support, news articles and list of supportive organizations, go to: www.ipromiseprogram.com

Will the reports ever go to the police or to my insurance company?

The contents of the reports will remain confidential, not being made available to police or insurance companies. Statistical information, without names, will be gathered for research purposes.

What does the I Promise Program cost?

The cost of the I Promise Program is $45.00 (Reduced from $49.00, because Bellevue Police Department cares!)
